EDITED BY THE JUNIOR CLASS

OF

ROCKFORD COLLEGE
ROCKFORD, ILLINOIS

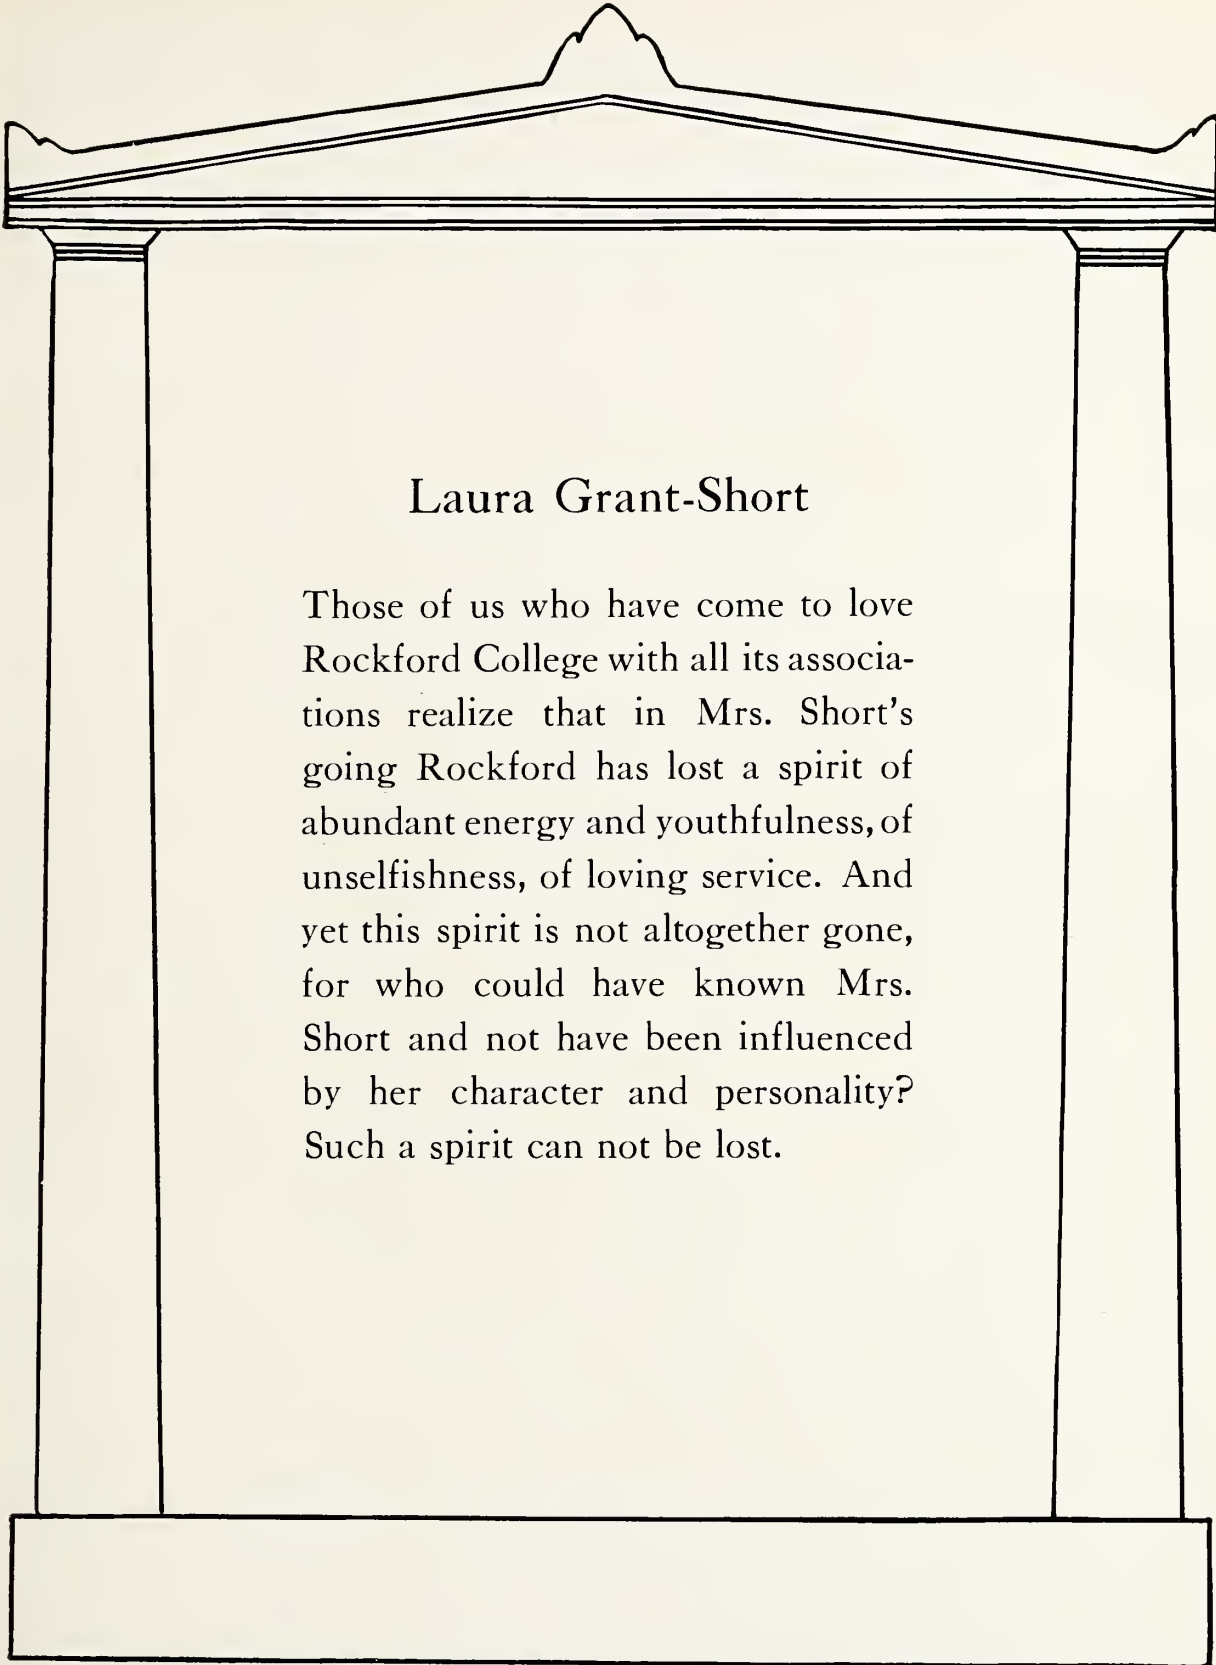

To
Lorena M. Church
Associate Professor of English
Registrar

We Dedicate the 1932
Cupola

To you whose loyalty as student and faculty member to the inherent honour of our college, and whose kindness and helpfulness to us in our disorderly progress through course books, have helped make our days of some value; and whose wisdom it has been that to see life clearly is to see it calmly and to see it humourously, we offer this in thanks.

Laura Grant-Short

Those of us who have come to love Rockford College with all its associations realize that in Mrs. Short's going Rockford has lost a spirit of abundant energy and youthfulness, of unselfishness, of loving service. And yet this spirit is not altogether gone, for who could have known Mrs. Short and not have been influenced by her character and personality? Such a spirit can not be lost.

Foreword

The ideal city-state of Socrates embodied four cardinal virtues: wisdom, courage, temperance, and justice. The conception of such a city-state, preserved in The Republic of Plato, has come down to us through the ages, often lost from sight temporarily, but ever surviving.

Our purpose in building this 1932 Cupola was not to create an artificial structure into which to fit the various aspects of the life of our college community, but to show what we believe to be the essential character of that life. Probably the most perfect form of the type of community which we have inherited and will hand down to others was the city-state as it existed in the mind of the Greek philosopher. We hope that in presenting ourselves as Greek citizens, we may be impressed with the realization that the success of the city-state in any age and culture depends on its citizens. For it is the citizens who bear the torch of the eternal values: wisdom, courage, temperance, and justice.

First among the virtues found in the State, wisdom comes into view, and in this I detect a certain peculiarity.

What is that?

The State which we have been describing is said to be wise as being good in counsel?

Very true.

And good counsel is clearly a kind of knowledge, for not by ignorance, but by knowledge, do men counsel well?

Clearly.

And the kinds of knowledge in a State are many and diverse?

Of course.

There is the knowledge of the carpenter; but is that the sort of knowledge which gives a city the title of wise and good counsel?

Certainly not; that would only give a city the reputation of skill in carpentering.

Then a city is not to be called wise because possessing a knowledge which counsels for the best about wooden implements?

Certainly not.

Nor by reason of a knowledge which advises about brazen pots, he said, nor as possessing any other similar knowledge?

Not by reason of any of them, he said.

Nor yet by reason of a knowledge which cultivates the earth; that would give the city the name of agricultural?

Yes.

JUSTICE

In a State which is ordered with a view to the good of the whole we should be most likely to find justice.

* * * *

The just man then will be like the just State?

He will.

* * * *

But in reality justice such as we were describing being concerned, not with the outward man, but with the inward, which is the true self and concernment of man: for the just man does not permit the several elements within him to interfere with one another, or any of them to do the work of others,—he sets in order his own inner life, and is his own master and his own law, and at peace with himself; and when he has bound together the three principles within him, which may be compared to the higher, lower, and middle notes of the scale, and the intermediate intervals—when he has bound all these together, and is no longer many, but has become one entirely temperate and perfectly adjusted nature, then he proceeds to act, if he has to act, whether in a matter of property, or in the treatment of the body, or in some affair of politics or private business; always thinking and calling that which preserves and co-operates with this harmonious condition, just and good action, and the knowledge which presides over it, wisdom, and that which at any time impairs this condition, he will call unjust action, and the opinion which presides over it ignorance.

COLLEGE GOVERNMENT BOARD

The means by which we try to attain justice in our city-state is simple, and may be changed readily to meet new conditions.

Our College Government Board is legislative: it makes, revises, or abandons rules, according to the need of the college.

Board is also executive: it co-operates with the faculty in carrying out the recommendations of that body, and sees that all rulings are put into effect.

The judicial function of the College Government Association is fulfilled through a committee which has as its chairman the Vice-President of the organization. In this way individual cases may be thoroughly examined and the decisions rendered may be truly just.

TOWN STUDENT'S ASSOCIATION

Those members of our student body who live outside the dormitories constitute the Town Student's Association, which not only has its own governing body, but also contributes to the government of the whole college community through its representative on College Government Board.

In Lower Adams the members of the Town Student's Association have a study room, recreation room, lunch room, and kitchenette. This year two rooms in Middle Hall have been used as study rooms. These rooms have proved, by their central location and nearness to the library, a valuable supplement to the quarters in Lower Adams.

SENIOR DAY

Day to beauty ever wed,
Bring us beauty of the soul;
Let a zeal for lovely life
Make us poets, make us whole.

Wearing beauty's many crowns
Let us don our caps and gowns.
Day to wisdom dedicate,
Make our understandings grow,
Thoughts be supple, deep, and kind,
As you now your truth bestow.

Wear we now symbolically
Vestments of maturity.

Beauty, truth: decus et veritas—these words bear the message of Senior Day.

As beauty demands a perfect sympathy in living, so wisdom requires a depth of understanding found only in mature individuals.

To the girls who have passed through this Senior Day experience, the academic garb symbolizes standards that will guide them when the occasion is but a memory.

JUNIORS

JUNIOR DAY

"This day signalizes the Junior's entrance into the freer state of upperclassmen." White robes and Ivy Crowns become symbols of her greater responsibility. Her gaiety is a reflection of a "sense of more than adequacy to the situation" and her solemnity an awareness of her new goal expressed in the plea of Miss Brush, the chosen orator of the day, "to grow sturdily and symmetrically toward the spiritual maturity that spells usefulness, happiness and freedom."

SOPHOMORE DAY

"The Dawn is here, Day is calling thee." The rose, yellow, and gold of a bonfire match the colors of the dawn. The bright flames leap up. The light, the warmth, and the vigor of them pervade the hearts of the Sophomores who stand around the fire.

Later, with the warmth and light of the fire instilled within their hearts, the Sophomores walk down the chapel aisle. Of the pastel shades in their dresses the blue is for truth, the green for growth, life, and vigor, the pink for perfection, and the yellow for vision. As she watches the blending of the group, each Sophomore acquires the desire to blend in her life truth, growth, vigor, vision, and perfection and to unify these with the light and warmth of the fire.

FRESHMEN

THE FRESHMAN YEAR

A few things stand out vividly from the thrilling confusion of our first days at Rockford. Most of all were we impressed by the friendliness of the students and their willingness to make us one with themselves.

Tolo Initiation marked the real beginning of our college life. After that day of enforced silence and smothered laughter we were accepted as a class. We felt our own individuality and eagerly awaited the chance to prove that we were capable of doing original work.

Freshman Day gave us that opportunity. In working on the freshman play we gained confidence in our independent creative ability. We hope that we, the first Freshman class to give a serenade on Freshman Day, have added our bit to Rockford tradition.

Freshman Prom! One glorious evening of dancing anticipated for weeks and remembered for months! It was overshadowed only by May Party which further developed our sense of responsibility through our part in its production. More than that—it brought vividly to us the conception of Rockford's highest ideal.

SOCRATIC SOCIETY

Deriving its name and purpose from the philosopher of Athens, Socratic Society desires above all to promote the increase of genuine wisdom in the college. Its members believe that the wise are not only those who can secure a grade of "straight A" in their courses, but also those who have demonstrated their leadership in things intellectual. Only Seniors may be given permanent membership in the organization. Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors are eligible for associate memberships lasting for periods of one year.

MATHEMATICS CLUB

The purpose of the Mathematics Club is to gain more knowledge of the historical and romantic aspects of the science than limited class time allows us to get in regular courses. Though open to all mathematics students, the club does not limit its programs to such subjects as can be clearly grasped by first year students. It attempts to keep up on current mathematical literature, and to give a general idea, if not a clear conception, of the science.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

The Home Economics Club of Rockford College serves a social and practical purpose in the lines of its members and of the entire student body. This year, in addition to food sales and teas, the club has provided a Chapel talk, a movie, and several field trips to various places of interest in the city.

SOCIAL SCIENCE CLUB

In a city-state some provision must be made for correlating the social relationships within the community with those of the outside world. This function the Social Science Club attempts to perform. Its activities consist of discussions, work with the several settlements in Rockford, and the bringing of speakers in the field of the social sciences to the whole college. This year during the first semester the club brought Miss Leah Taylor, head resident of Chicago Commons. A program for more complete cooperation with the college Y. W. C. A. is being worked out.

THE SCIENCE CLUB

Science Club brings together our college physicists, chemists, biologists, astronomers, and mathematicians from both faculty and student groups. The meetings, held usually twice a month, reveal the procedures and results of original investigation, reviews or summaries of recent advances in a particular field, or even scientific adventures in foreign travel. These presentations invariably stimulate questions and general discussions. The club is sufficiently flexible and informal to make the meetings of general interest to those not identified with the sciences as well as to the members.

THE SPANISH CLUB

The Spanish Club was organized this year among the students of the Spanish department to develop greater facility in the use of the language. Business and social activities are carried on in Spanish.

The Art Club was organized to gather into a workable group art students and those particularly interested in the field. It affords means of direct contact with local and visiting artists and community art projects. This year the club has secured through membership in the American College Society of Print Collectors two etchings to add to the permanent art collection of Rockford College.

GLEE CLUB

The Glee Club represents an essential element in our college life. Under the direction of Professor Alfred O. Willgeroth it has accomplished a great deal in the way of choral singing and a capello work. The training the Glee Club gives adds greatly to the musical life of its members.

One of Rockford's loveliest traditions is the Christmas Vesper program given by the Glee Club. It also presents a Spring Concert in May, and plays for other occasions in college and in the city.

ORCHESTRA

The orchestra's most traditional performance takes place at the Christmas Candle Light Supper. It gives a concert out-doors in early June, and this year it assisted the Glee Club in its Spring Concert. Occasionally it accepts invitations to play outside of the College.

The Orchestra is valuable not only as a source of enjoyment, both to participants and listeners, but also as a means of training in coöperative artistic production.

CHOIR

The Choir offers a very valuable service in its contribution to our Chapel programs. It consists of a volunteer group from the Glee Club, and is directed by Professor Alfred O. Willgeroth. It prepares one special number each week, and leads the singing in the daily Chapel services. We may look to the Choir for an example of voluntary and faithful service.

THE SONG CONTEST

The inter-class song contest was originated three years ago by Miss Ellen T. Gould, formerly Dean of Women, and has been held twice since. It is to be held every two years in the future.

This year the Seniors won the cup for the third time, with a score of 80 out of a possible 100 points. The Sophomores received second place with 76 points. The Juniors and Freshmen had scores of 62 and 56, respectively.

Professor Willgeroth, Miss Drew, Miss Mann, and Mr. Schmidt judged the contest.

COLLEGE SINGING

Group singing furnishes one of the best mediums for expression of the various emotions of college life—loyalty, reverence, appreciation, love, and friendship. There has been even more enthusiasm than usual in our college singing this year. Some of the things that we will remember about Rockford are its Song Contests and Song Chapels, its singing in the dining room and out on the campus, its step sings and its class serenades. Singing is a fit way to express our feelings concerning a community life which is in itself harmonious.

From the deep throat of sad Melpomene!
Through bronzed lyre in tragic order go,
And touch the strings into a mystery.

THE COURSE OF TRUE LOVE

Early in the year, for the past two years, the athletic association has put on a minstrel show to introduce to the freshmen Rockford in its lighter moments. This event is so much enjoyed that it is becoming one of the customs.

This year The Course of True Love written by Emily Holdsworth, and directed by Mary Holton, was concerned with the fortunes of two colored gentlemen, Magnolius Washburn, and Eclectic Washington Booker, one girl, Emerald Washburn, one beautiful checkered suit—and a pair of dice.

THE CIRCUS COME TO TOWN

The first week end after Christmas vacation, Rockford College had the privilege of seeing the greatest show on earth under rafters. The athletic association presented at that time its annual circus under the direction of Betty Mercer.

With the opening of the sideshows there was a great hue and cry, and all rushed to see the ventriloquist, the midget tap dancers, and to have their fortune told.

The ring show, announced by the stentorian tones of the mighty ringmaster, Janet Hall, offered the greatest collection of talented animals on earth. Among the high spots of the show were the giraffes, which entertained with a tap-dance.

Furthermore, the sawdust trail led to prosperity for the athletic association.

TERPSICHORE

Health is best of blessings far;
Next manly Grace and Beauty are;
The third is Riches without reproof;
And fourth to be Young with the playmates of Youth.

—Greek Anthology

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The ancient Greeks were masters of learning and the arts, yet they took great care to develop the body as well. Physical beauty held for them something of the divine. In our various sports and physical activities we are carrying out this ancient ideal, which has been revived because of our consciousness of its value.

HORSEBACK RIDING

Horseback riding was revived at Rockford this year. It gained many enthusiasts and was extremely popular, especially during the fall and spring terms. Blackhawk park and other parks and beauty spots of Rockford were utilized for this excellent sport. Riding helped to lighten many a dull Sunday afternoon, and to provide recreation during the week as well.

ARCHERY

This ancient sport is really quite intriguing, and many attempt to improve their skill, especially in the spring. The Rockford campus affords a good two-target range.

TENNIS

This excellent sport is limited to fall and spring, but it interests a good number in spite of much bad weather. There is an all-college tournament in the spring which decides who the champion is to be.

BASEBALL

Baseball games between the class teams cause as much excitement at Rockford as the various league games do. A varsity team is selected from the four teams as in hockey. Baseball affords a favorite diversion at the several picnics in the spring.

THE SWIMMING MEET

Anyone who can swim at all is urged to participate in this annual event. This year the outcome was extremely close. The Freshmen managed to defeat the Sophomores by only three points. Each race was a hard-fought battle, but the Class of '34 finally came out on top.

DANCING

This year dancing has been extremely popular. Several times members of the dancing classes gave programs in town. A large group of college people availed themselves of the opportunity to see Kreutzburg, the famous German dancer, in Chicago. Washington Party and May Party were ample proof of the beauty and grace of this form of physical development.

CLIO

Forbear to deem the chronicler universe,
Ungentle, or untouched by seemly ruth
Who, gathering up all that Time's envious tooth
Has spared of sound and grave realities
Firmly rejects those dazzling flatteries . . .
That might have drawn down Clio from the skies . . .
A muse— who . . . taught her faithful servants how the lyre
Should animate, but not mislead, the pen.

THE PURPLE PARROT

Certainly the function of a college newspaper is not merely to re-tell events that have happened, or to furnish alumnae with news of their Alma Mater. Neither is the paper a laboratory where students may play at journalism. We believe that its ideal purpose is to interpret each event by showing its significance in student life as a whole. The generalizations drawn from specific events and given to the college in the form of interpretation will continued to be operative long after the event is forgotten. To give such interpretation is the aim of THE PURPLE PARROT.

FORUM

Twenty students have this year styled themselves members of Forum. As such they have assisted and participated in debates with Yale University, Oberlin, Carleton, Beloit and Cornell Colleges.

In a larger sense all of us are members of a forum. We are constantly weighing, considering, and seeking to convince those about us of our own ideas. We have given up the traditional spirit of intolerance and contentiousness in our intellectual bouts and we have replaced it with a new spirit of "come, let us reason together." It is this new spirit bound up with what is sometimes known as straight thinking, sometimes as critical or reflective thinking, that Forum seeks to cultivate.

Members of the faculty and Miss Backus, faculty adviser, have given most generously to Forum of their time and counsel.

PRESS CLUB

The Press Club, organized to foster journalism among the students, connects the activities of the college with the outside world. Newswriting is studied by reading, and discussing the best newspaper articles, as well as by actual practice in writing. An article on every important event of college life is sent to the girls' school and town newspapers.

TOLO CLUB

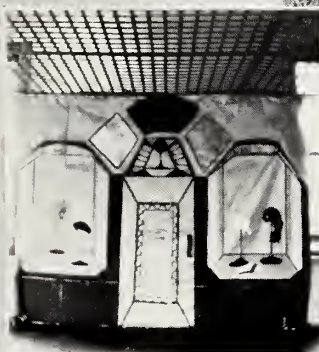

The function of Tolo Club is to stimulate and govern the social life of the college. Tolo Council, the executive board of the organization, is composed of representatives from all classes. Under its guidance are held all formal and informal dances, and the Freshman and Upper-classman Proms. From the moment of her initiation into college life by Tolo, every girl is considered a member and is expected to make her contribution to its guidance of the social life of Rockford College.

Y . W . C . A .

The Y. W. C. A. seeks to promote the spiritual growth of the College. Under the supervision of its Cabinet, Big Sisters are selected from a group of Seniors, Juniors, and Sophomores who have expressed the desire to welcome Freshmen and other new students to Rockford and to help them start a happy college life. A formal Big-Little Sister banquet was the first introduction of the Freshman Class as a whole to College life.

The Y. W. C. A. is responsible for vesper services, "appreciation meetings," and weekly chapels. It works in coöperation with the local and national organizations and keeps in touch with Kobe, our Sister College in Kobe, Japan. Each summer a group of girls goes to the College Y. W. C. A. Conference at Lake Geneva where six-hundred girls from middle-western colleges and universities meet together to exchange ideas and to plan their work for the following year.

E V T E R P E

Our Pleasant groves, which planted were with paines,
That with our musick wont so oft to sing.
And arbors sweet, in which the shepheards swaines
Were wont so oft their pastoralls to sing.

—Spenser

Still he lies,
Weighed down by many sorrows, in the isle
And dwelling of Calypso.

'The bladder of a bullock nine years old
He gave, in which he had compressed and bound
the stormy winds of air: for Saturn's son
Had given him empire o'er the winds, with power
To calm them or rouse them at his will.
This in our roomy galley he made fast
With a bright chain of silver, that no breath
Of ruder air might blow. He only left
The west wind free to waft our ships and us
Upon our way. But that was not to be:
We perished by a folly of our own.'

The Sirens sit
In a green field, and charm with mellow notes
The comer, while beside them lie in heaps
The bones of men decaying underneath
The shrivelled skins.

And now, when they were all refreshed by food,
Mistress and maidens laid their veils aside
And played at ball. Nausicaä the white armed Began a song.

The great Ulysses started from his sleep.

Alone
'The daughter of Alcinous kept her place,—
For Pallas gave her courage and forbade
Her limbs to tremble.

And forth they issued, bearing in their hands
Torches, and, crowding round Ulysses, gave
Glad greeting, seized his hands, embraced him, kissed
His hands and shoulders. The desire
To weep for joy o'ercame the chief; his eyes
O'erflowed with tears; he sobbed; he knew them all.

THE MAY QUEEN

All year long students watch for the girl who will be MAY QUEEN. The qualifications which have existed in their present form since nineteen hundred seven are as follows: First, the May Queen must be a member of the Senior Class, having been at Rockford College for four years. Secondly, she must be an all-round Rockford College Girl—unconditioned in her academic work, enthusiastic, helpful, unselfish, co-operative, dignified and gracious. Thirdly, the Rockford College May Queen shall be a girl who is tolerant and versatile enough to be able to adjust herself to every group of college mates. Fourthly, she shall be strong enough to have influenced college and student policy in a constructive way. Fifthly, she shall be a girl who is capable of realizing the prodigious responsibility that the title of May Queen entails. Lastly, she shall be kind. The students and faculty desire to perpetuate these qualities by voting for one who holds high the ideals of Rockford. Her election is kept secret until she appears with her attendants on May Day. The old queen returns to crown the new with violets, who in turn crowns the old queen with forget-me-nots.

"DRESS CHANGES MANNERS"

VOLTAIRE, that keenest critic of human nature, was right. Dress does change the manners. And just as woman's costume is today more beautiful, less affected and more youthful than ever before so, too, is woman herself.

We may change our fashions and our manners, but will never change from our old-fashioned policy of Honesty and Fair-dealing.
